Narberth Community Library Circulated 54,589 Books During 1931, a Gain of 12,000

Large Gains Shown by Report of Librarian at Annual Meeting

KEIGHTON IS RE-ELECTED

A total circulation of 54,589 volumes for the year 1931 was reported by Miss Mary Church, librarian, at the annual meeting of the Narberth Community Library Association held on Tuesday night.

This figure represents an increase of 12,150 over the preceding year, and an average borrowing of nine books per capita.

The Library now houses 9551 volumes, of which 993 were added since the last annual report. In the adult department 37,072 volumes were circulated, and 17,517 in the juvenile department. There are 4077 registered borrowers at the Library, 662 of them having registered during 1931.

Mrs. E. H. Cockrill, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Wood and T. C. Trotter were re-elected trustees for three-year terms.

At the meeting of the board of trustees following the annual meeting the Rev. Robert E. Keighton was re-elected president. Other officers re-elected were Mrs. Cockrill, vice president; Mrs. E. C. Drew, secretary, and Mrs. Clifford W. Bates, treasurer.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Bates, showed that the total receipts for the year were $4949.82, divided as follows: On deposit at the Merion Title and Trust Company January 1, 1931, $810.74 received from Borough, $2500; received from Borough for insurance, $100.80; from school board, $300; from Mrs. Chetwood-Campbell, $30; rentals, fines, dues, etc., $1208.12.

Total expenditures amounted to $4058.09 for the year. Of this sum, $2477.80 was for salaries; $1034.81 for books; $76.50 for magazines; $93.96 for supplies and printing; $108.05 for binding; $131.75 for equipment; $14.42 for petty cash; $18 for miscellaneous expenses and $100.80 for insurance.

This left a balance of $891.73 of receipts over expenditures. The unavailable balance in the Merion Title and Trust Company amounted to $706.22, leaving a balance of $185.51. The outstanding bills for the month totaled $200.37.

The Library was notified by the Clerk of Council that the sum of $2250 had been appropriated in the 1932 budget for the Library.

The report of Miss Church, the librarian, follows in part:

"During the past year the Library has followed its usual policy of co-operating with the schools and providing as far as possible the books needed by the students, and giving them every

Milne's 'Dover Road' to Be Presented Here

Narberth Players' Club Announces Schedule of Forthcoming Productions.

The Narberth Players' Club, by all appearances, has a busy time ahead. The committee on the selection of plays announces the schedule for future performances up to the end of the present season. The next play will be "The Dover Road," which was written by that famous man of whimsy, A. A. Milne, and will be given February 18 and 19. The cast, which is not yet completely chosen, will be announced soon, and will be directed by Miss Lucia Keim, of the Players' group. Miss Keim has had experience in the directing of plays, and herself took part in the Christmas production of Dickens' Christmas Carol which the Narberth Players presented so successfully this year.

On March 8, at the School Auditorium, the club will present four one-act plays. These will be principally produced for the informal gathering together of the club members and their families, who will be admitted free of charge to the performance, and is a surprise attraction for those whose subscription tickets entitle them to all such additional features of the club's activities. There are 56 active members of the club at present, and so many are interested in being cast in the plays, that it was the idea of the casting committee that these four one-

Parent-Teacher Group to Meet on Monday

Father's Night Program in Charge of Lou Young Has Been Arranged

WHARTON SCH. SPEAKER

The January meeting of the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association will be held in the school auditorium on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be the annual Fathers' Night. An attractive program has been arranged by the fathers of the organization with Louis A. Young as chairman.

Frank Connor, instructor of geography and industry in the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, will speak on "Conditions in Russia as They Are Today." Mr. Connor traveled in Russia last summer and made an extensive study of conditions in that country. A record attendance is looked for.

Miss Florence Pray, chairman of the Child Study Group, with several mothers of the association, held a most interesting meeting in the teachers' room of the new building on Wednesday morning, January 6, at 10:30 o'clock. Problems of parental responsibility are discussed informally, parent education books are reviewed and everyday problems are presented at these Wednesday morning meetings. The mothers are urged to attend these meetings, as they will find them both helpful and instructive.

Community Club Meeting to Be Held on Tuesday

The first January meeting of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Girl Scout wing of the Community Building on Windsor Avenue. Mrs. W. J. Drennan, chairman of the Music Department, is in charge of the program. The Girls' Glee Club of the Overbrook School for the Blind will sing. The speaker will be the Reverend John M. Hart, of the University of Pennsylvania. His subject will be "Comparative Religion." The Juniors are specially invited to attend this meeting. The hostess will be Mrs. Paul Marrow.

The Fellowship Committee of the club will give a card party at the Philadelphia Electric Company in Wayne next Friday at 1:45 P. M., the proceeds of which will go toward the benefit of the unemployed of Narberth. There will be door prizes. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Joseph H. Miller, Narberth 2856-J, who is the chairman of the Fellowship Committee.

D. A. R. Meets Monday

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, D. A. R., will hold their January meeting at the home of Mrs. Frederick A. Egmore, 19 Elmwood Avenue, Narberth, on Monday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. J. G. Forney, State Librarian, will be the speaker, and her topic will be "Magazine and Library." Mrs. A. W. Ward will be the assisting hostess.

A Word of Warning From the Burgess

Each winter season it becomes necessary to call the attention of the newcomers to our Borough to the ordinance providing that snow be removed from all sidewalks within twenty-four hours after the fall has ceased. The recent storm has also shown that some who have been here for several years need reminding. It is also unlawful to spread sand or ashes on ice-covered walks.

If more people would recognize that in case of an accident to a person who falls on a slippery pavement, the property owner may be joined in the suit by the Borough and held solely responsible, they would be more careful.

In other years we have been commended for the prompt and thorough cleaning of our streets. Let us keep up the good work. It is a poor kind of fun to have to hold hearings for your neighbors and fellow-citizens.

Henry A. Frye,
Burgess.

Newly Formed Narberth Boys' Club Plans Comprehensive Program of Athletic Activities

An event of unusual interest to young men in Narberth was the formation last week of the Narberth Boys' Club under the direction of Harry Claphanson, of Merion.

The club holds meetings and games Tuesday and Friday evenings at the Baptist Church, which has placed its basketball floor, bowling alleys and gymnasium at the disposal of the club.

A basketball team composed of experienced players has already been organized and several games have been arranged with other young men's teams along the Main Line. New recruits are always welcome in this division and are given plenty of opportunity to play on practice nights.

Many of the young bowlers are spending the evenings practicing and hope to have a team ready in a few weeks. In addition there is instruction in boxing and wrestling under an experienced teacher. Ping pong tables are also available for those desiring lighter exercise.

Mr. Claphanson, under whose guidance all the activities are conducted, was an instructor in physical training during the World War, preparatory to active fighting in France. Since then he has been constantly engaged in boys' work, has managed baseball, basketball and wrestling teams, and for several years was Scoutmaster of the Wynnewood Boy Scout Troop.

Each division of the club's work is under the personal direction of a captain who is chosen for his general ability and proficiency in the branch assigned to him.

The captains are: Basketball, Langdon Odiorne; bowling, Jacques Newell, Jr.; boxing, Joseph Baker; wrestling, William Hentzley; ping pong, Prescott Hartley.

Young men between the ages of 15 and 20 are invited to attend the meetings any Tuesday and Friday evening.

The Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company held a luncheon meeting on Monday at the Methodist Church, followed by a card party in Elm Hall for the incoming and outgoing officers of the organization.

In order to pay the outstanding bills of the organization incurred by the firemen's carnival in October and due to the fact that the proceeds are in the closed Merion Title and Trust Company, two card parties have been planned to raise funds to meet these bills. Approximately $1200 was raised at the carnival.

The first card party will be given on Friday evening, February 5, at 8 o'clock in Elm Hall. The committee in charge

Narberth Man, D. J. McTighe, Chosen Head of Young Lawyers' Club of Montgomery Co.

Unlike many young lawyers who feel that they know all the law upon their graduation from the law school, a group of young attorneys of Montgomery County realize that there is always room for improvement and they have, through the formation of the Young Lawyers' Club last fall, taken steps to be informed upon the subjects of real interest to the profession and to the public, and, in that way, to contribute their best efforts in improving the administration of justice.

Last Friday at a luncheon meeting at Norristown, this group elected its officers for the year, Desmond J. McTighe, of Narberth, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Pennsylvania Law School, was chosen its president. Harry F. Hauser, of Norristown, is its secretary and treasurer and the directors include Charles N. Moffett, of Ardmore; David E. Groshens, of Glenside, and Edward Foulke, of Ambler.

Included in its membership are several residents of the Main Line: Alan J. Smith, George Purring and Roland Fleer, of Narberth; A. Archer Cross, and Edward F. Kane, of Bala-Cynwyd, and H. Lester Haws and E. William Pyle, of Ardmore.

Drastic Budget Slicing Enables Borough to Retain 18-Mill Tax Rate

Rediscounting of Notes by Merion Title with Philadelphia Banks Necessitates $16,000 Payment from 1932 Budget.

SALARIES ARE CUT FROM 10 TO 25 PER CENT.

Drastic cutting of its 1932 budget, in order to set aside $16,000 for the payment of notes discounted by the Merion Title and Trust Company, enabled the Narberth Borough Council to retain its 18-mill tax rate which was adopted at the January meeting on Monday night.

Provision had been made for the payment of these loans out of the 1931 budget but with the closing of the Merion Title, borough funds to the amount of $11,314.01 were tied up. The notes, it was found, had been re-discounted by the Merion Title and Trust Company with the Philadelphia National Bank and the Pennsylvania Company, necessitating payment by the borough to these banks.

In order to provide for the repayment of these notes, and avoid raising the tax rate, the 1932 budget was cut to the bone. Salaries of all borough officials and employees were cut from 10 to 25 per cent. A reduction in the appropriation for roads, sewers, ash collection, etc., always the largest single item of expense in the budget, of $11,298.50 compared to 1931 was made.

The 1932 budget, appropriating the sum of $86,487 from tax moneys and miscellaneous receipts, was adopted as ordinance number 281. The tax rate ordinance, number 282, levied the rate of one dollar and eighty cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation as follows: for general borough purposes, $1.27; for street improvement, 10 cents; for sinking fund and interest on bonded indebtedness, 27 cents; for fire protection, 16 cents.

An ordinance, number 283, was also adopted fixing standards governing the sale of cream in the borough. According to this ordinance cream must be labeled light, medium, heavy or extra heavy, light cream to contain at least 18 per cent. butter fat; medium cream at least 27 per cent. butter fat; heavy cream at least 36 per cent., and extra heavy cream at least 45 per cent.

The summary of the report of the Borough Treasurer, Walton M. Wentz, as of January 11, 1932, is as follows:

General fund	$5,460.43
Current cash	4,111.73
Unavailable balance	1,175.02
Street improvement account	8,420.65
General fund	1,718.34

Notes under protest:

In hands of Pennsylvania Co $6,000.00
In hands of Philadelphia National Bank 10,000.00

The following resolution of sympathy on the death of James C. Simpson, a former member and president of Council, was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS, Council has learned of the death of Mr. James Cooper Simpson on December 28, 1931, and

"WHEREAS, Mr. Simpson served on this body efficiently and faithfully for eight years, five of which were as its president, be it

"RESOLVED: That we express the deep sense of loss to our community in the passing of Mr. James Cooper Simpson, a public-spirited citizen of the highest character and an official servant of the borough in its early years; that this resolution be spread upon the minutes and a copy thereof be sent to the family."

'Rusty' Callow Speaks on Western Lumbering

Penn Crew Coach Describes His Early Experiences at Rotary Meeting.

"Rusty" Callow, crew coach at the University of Pennsylvania, told members of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club some of his early experiences as a lumberman in the Northwest at the regular meeting Tuesday. Mr. Callow is a resident of Bala-Cynwyd.

The speaker is one of eleven children born to a pioneer family who moved to the head of Puget Sound from Wisconsin in 1868. The homestead of 160 acres was developed as a farm in the years before the lumbering industry reached that section of the country.

During his years in school and college, Mr. Callow worked in the lumber camps, starting at 14 to wait on table, and later graduating into the more interesting axe and saw work. A vivid description of methods of "falling" timber eight feet in diameter was given.

Mr. Callow traced the growth of lumbering in the northwestern district of spruces, hemlocks and Douglass firs, and showed the gradual adoption of modern methods as the value of the timber increased. He was introduced to the club by Raymond L. Watrous.

Depositors' Group to Receive Bank Data

Prominent Citizens on Legion Committee in Touch With Dr. Gordon

APPRAISERS APPOINTED

The depositors' group, with Benjamin H. Ludlow representing Ardmore, received official recognition from the State Banking Department Monday to proceed with a more detailed study of the assets and liabilities of the closed Merion Title and Trust Company.

The letter authorizing the depositors committee to receive the information was received from Dr. William D. Gordon, secretary of the State Banking Department.

Members of the committee are Walter R. Faries, Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer, David G. Wilson, Yern Yorgensen, George Hall and Mr. Ludlow. The committee held a meeting Wednesday night to determine a program of procedure. Information is desired by the committee as a basis for rehabilitating banking facilities of the Main Line.

Meanwhile a depositors' committee sponsored by Bullock-Sanderson Post, American Legion, is proceeding with their plans for rehabilitation. Members of a permanent committee have been selected consisting of prominent financial and civic leaders who make their home on the Main Line. They have been in touch with Dr. Gordon and their methods of rehabilitation procedure have been approved by him.

Dr. Gordon also announced the appointment this week of two real estate appraisers for liquidation work in connection with the closed Merion Title and Trust Company. They are Fletcher W. Stites, of Narberth, and T. Williams Roberts, of Cynwyd.

The mortgage trustee group of the Merion Title and Trust Company held a meeting at the Bellevue-Stratford yesterday afternoon. Montgomery County Court at Norristown has already been petitioned to appoint a new trustee depository for this group to replace the trusteeship held by the Merion Title and Trust Company.

Wentz Appointed Regional Publicity Representative

Walton M. Wentz, of Narberth, has been appointed Eastern regional publicity representative of the Pennsylvania Railroad, effective January 1. Mr. Wentz has been editor of the Pennsylvania News, official organ of the system, for the past nine years.

Under a new plan which will substitute three editions of the Pennsylvania News for three separate papers, Mr. Wentz will act as publicity representative of the railroad, both for the News and for the public press, in the area east of Altoona, south to Norfolk and north to the Great Lakes.

The Seven Million Dollar Mystery

Briefly, is it not about time the good folks on the Main Line were given some information concerning the state of some seven million dollars of their money, tied up in the Merion Title and Trust Company?

That such information is much desired and sorely needed is proven by the fact that today, nearly three months after the crash, the affairs of the closed bank are still the prime topic of conversation wherever one goes. Some thousands of good, substantial, conservative American citizens are staring at a blank curtain, behind which lies the fate of some money in which they are much interested.

The affairs of this bank are not the peculiar and exclusive concern of the directors of the institution, nor yet of the State Banking Department. The Merion Title and Trust Company was, and is, a quasi-public institution. It stands in that category first, because it requested support on public grounds, and second, because some two million dollars in funds belonging to the taxpayers is involved in its deposits.

Information should be issued if only to stop rumors and quench scandal and blackmail. As the weeks roll along, more and more ugly things are said and printed; some inspired by distorted facts; some by malice; some perhaps by accurate knowledge. The average depositor, having only the most unreliable information at his disposal, is ready to believe almost anything. Would he not rather have some enlightenment from the bank itself—from the men who, despite mistakes, are after all known to the community?

Some of the officers and directors of the bank worked hard to build up the business and reputation of the institution. They have endeavored, inspired by community pride, to secure deposits from associates and friends who now look upon them with resentment. Are not these officers and directors entitled to a release of information which will show clearly how and why the disaster occurred? Who, after all, can gain from a continuance of the mystery?

Finally, the fact is recognized by everyone that a new bank must be created to fill the commercial needs of this great section. It will take time, and it will take money, but the support will be forthcoming before too many more months pass into history. And while it is certain that such an institution will be a new one from the ground up, it will continue to a greater or less degree some of the functions of the Merion Title and Trust Company. Only a complete knowledge of affairs in the closed bank will serve as a basis for the creation of such a successor.

The available information today can be summarized in very few words: The bank is closed; it was ordered liquidated very quickly thereafter; it has an astonishing amount of municipal deposits not covered by bond; no plan for reorganization, reopening or for a new bank has had any success. Beyond these known facts those who read such things may secure their current information from a scandal specialist who offers long lists of real estate and mortgage transfers which may, in the final analysis, mean anything.

Hardly a day passes but what every newspaper editor on the Main Line is urged to start muckraking. Such sentiments show interest, but a policy of that kind would serve no good end.

Is this once great institution to be quietly and mysteriously scrapped, and succeeded by a five-and-ten-cent store, or can the citizens reasonably expect a concerted, honest and frank community move to lay the facts on the table and start building anew for the future?

The responsibility lies first with the directors, then with the various municipal bodies, and finally with the State Banking Department. Facts may do good. Continued silence may do a lot more harm.

The "Homeless Transient"

Virtually all self-supporting adults want to do the best they can for those adults who for one reason or another are not self-supporting. What is the best thing to do for the man who comes to the back door begging for food and clothing, asking for alms of any kind? It's hard to turn down the poor fellow who comes up to you on the street and mumbles something about being hungry and out of work. But is it best to give him money?

These questions may be answered in unmistakable terms: People who give food or money to such persons are directly stimulating begging. They are defeating the purpose for which agencies for the care of these men are established. . . . Philanthropic citizens can be of the greatest assistance to organized relief agencies dealing with homeless and transient men by supporting these agencies and referring all panhandlers and house-to-house beggars to these agencies.

Our duty is clear: (1) Support relief agencies; (2) Send beggars to these agencies; don't give beggars food or money.

More and more people seem to be using the airplane as a means of speedy locomotion. They also seem to be buying planes for week-end trips to spots three or four hundred miles away. All of which raises a basketful of brand-new problems like: Where can I park my plane? What's the forecast for today? Parachute working all right?

The cutting back of the bank on the property of the Merion Friends' Meeting, at Montgomery Avenue and Meeting House Lane, Narberth, remedies to a large extent the dangerous traffic hazard which existed at this intersection due to obstructed vision.

The almost miraculous growth of the Narberth Community Library in eleven years from a shelf of eighteen books in the home of its founder and former librarian, Mrs. Robert F. Wood, to its present 9000-odd volumes and circulation of over 54,000 for last year, may well be a source of pride to every resident of the Borough.

Shreds & Patches

To the Vagrant the year 1900 is a matter of easy memory. He was even then old enough to contemplate the passage into a new century with a sufficiently mature realization of the solemnity of the ticking off of a span of time which man's mind but not his life can usually encompass. He was also young enough to experience a youthful thrill in entering a new century, a crystal clear and unclouded space of time stretching ahead for him and his generation to enter and to use as they would. Actually the passage, of course, was no more than the tolling of any other midnight, yet it seemed then to the Vagrant that mankind, like the chambered Nautilus, "stole with soft step its shining archway through, built up its idle door, stretched in his last found home, and knew the old no more."

But, alas! such was not the case. The idle door was not built up. The old entered our new century with us. It was for them no new-found home more expansive than the last. They kept their eyes and their hearts strictly centered on the affairs in hand, and, in fifteen years of our new century have run their swift course, with increasing promise that the slowly nurtured liberalism of the nineteenth century would actually flower into a better day, they (those old ones, those commanding ones, those teachers, those preachers, those leaders of the past, had plunged us into a great and demoralizing war and had irreparably ruined our bright new century. The vials of intolerance, of wrath, of brute force that were then deliberately uncorked by evil and selfish men who clutched their winnings and bickered over the spoils, have so filled the air with poisons that no one has since been able to draw an untainted breath.

Here we are in 1932. The twentieth century is no longer new. One-third of its years are nearly passed. Boys and girls who were born since it began have been voting these ten years and are preparing their children for life. What are they teaching them? What can they teach them with confidence? Let none of those young parents apply to the Vagrant or to any member of his generation for guidance on that point. We were taught a false doctrine by the old generation and led by them into the ambush of war. We were given ideals only to be betrayed. We were trained for peace and led to war. We were told that generosity and fair-minded tolerance were acceptable and right; we were victimized and plundered by greed and expected to do the goosetrip to any tune that any mountebank might pipe so long as he pictured it in the key of 100% Americanism. Anti-this and anti-that; Protestant white supremacy; the yellow peril; the menace of the Jews; Nordicism; fundamentalism; Voisteadism. What a venomous swarm! What an attack on minds that were born and nurtured in a kinder day! None of us can teach with the authority and assurance which should inspire and justify a preceptor. Some of us, too many, alas, have lost their bearings and, groping blindly, find themselves inadvertently marching in the wake of some propagandist leader and mouthing the catch-phrases of the day.

The Vagrant thinks that his generation, the one which is now in its prime, is ham-strung. Trained by false elders, disillusioned, it lacks the vision. It has not nor can it produce a Woodrow Wilson. Unwillingly it occupies a throne which its elders have grudgingly vacated and, unlike a normally trained and inspired generation, it is already looking for help and leadership from the next younger group who will be its successor. Therein is a suggestion of the cause of the present lamentable lack of leadership in national and world affairs. All that we in our present prime can say, as we feebly grasp the implements of human progress, is "After us cometh a builder; tell him 'we too have known'."

Would you perceive this state at a glance, gentle reader? Consider, then, the conventional moral code. What is it? Can you state it? Is there one that is now generally accepted? Is there need of one? There is need, of course. There is no code because we lack the convictions and therefore the ability to formulate one. Frederick Lewis Allen in his new book, "Only Yesterday," easily and completely states the code of our fathers. The Vagrant will repeat it here and you who are of his generation will know instantly that Allen has stated it correctly. You will know also that it cannot now be restated and applied. And therein lies your impotence. Allen states it as follows:

"This code, as it commonly concerned young people, might have been roughly summarized as follows: Women were the guardians of morality; they were made of finer stuff than men and were expected to act accordingly. Young girls must look forward in innocence (tempered perhaps with a modicum of physiological instruction) to a romantic love match which would lead them to the altar and to living happily ever after; and until the 'right man' came along they must allow no male to kiss them. It was expected that some men would succumb to the temptations of sex, but only with a special class of outlawed women; girls of respectable families were expected to have no such temptations. Boys and girls were permitted large freedom to work and play together, with decreasing and well-nigh nominal chaperonage, but only because the code worked so well on the whole that a sort of honor system was supplanting supervision by their elders; it was taken for granted that if they had been well brought up they would never take advantage of this freedom. And although the attitude toward smoking and drinking by girls differed widely in different strata of society and different parts of the country, majority opinion held that it was morally wrong for them to smoke and could hardly imagine them showing the effects of alcohol."

THE VAGRANT.

Local Movies

Narberth Has Penrod and Sam, Seth Parker, etc.

"Too good to be missed," claims the Narberth Theatre management of its show this week-end: Joe E. Brown in "Local Boy Makes Good." And there are added short subjects of interest.

Jack Holt and Ralph Graves, who did a nice bit of work in "Dirigible," are starred in "A Dangerous Affair" at Narberth next Monday and Tuesday.

Booth Tarkington's "Penrod and Sam" brings Leon Janney, Junior Coghlin, Matt Moore and Zasu Pitts to the borough playhouse next Wednesday and Thursday. In addition, a Mickey Mouse comedy. In order that the children—as well as adults—may not miss this treat, a school children's matinee will be given Thursday at 3:45 P. M.

Beloved of radio fans is "Way Back Home," in which Seth Parker and his folks have fun in a wholesome old-fashioned manner. The movie adaptation is equally charming, and is coming to Narberth next week-end.

Bachelor, Garden, Reno, Beau Hunks at Egyptian

"The Beloved Bachelor," based on Edward H. Peple's play, is pleasing entertainment with Paul Lukas, Dorothy Jordan, Vivienne Osborne and Charlie Ruggles, who provides the bulk of the comedy, this Friday and Saturday. Also on the program: a Krazy Kat cartoon and a Boy Friends comedy.

"The Unholy Garden," next Monday and Tuesday, is an exciting and well-acted tale of desperadoes, starring Ronald Colman, Fay Wray and Estelle Taylor. An accompanying short subject is "Cannibals of the Deep," the second in a series of fishing expeditions.

"The Road to Reno," next Wednesday and Thursday, is an argument against divorce, interesting and well acted. In Nevada's capital you see dance and gambling halls, the divorce mill, and Lilyan Tashman, William Boyd, Peggy Shannon, Buddy Rogers and Skeets Gallagher, who introduces some comedy relief.

Double-billed for next Friday and Saturday are Laurel and Hardy in "Beau Hunks," their second extra length comedy, and a stage presentation, "Frolics of 1932." In "Beau Hunks," Hal Roach's stout and slim comedy team join the Foreign Legion and fight gloom and the Riffs. If you missed "Beau Geste," don't miss "Beau Hunks"—it's so different. In fact, don't miss this comedy anyway.

Such a success was the minstrel show presented on the Egyptian's stage recently that the management has decided to offer another double header of entertainment. That is why the "Frolics of 1932" will be given next week-end in addition to the Laurel and Hardy "Beau Hunks" comedy.

Coming to Cynwyd soon are "Over the Hill," "The Yellow Ticket," "Patim Blonde," "Delicious" and "Frankenstein."

Health Officer to Attend

George B. Supple, health officer of the Narberth Board of Health, will attend the annual meeting of Milk Inspectors and Health Officers of the State to be held at Harrisburg next Tuesday and Wednesday. Authorization was given him to attend as the representative of the Narberth Board by Council on Monday night.

Next Week-End

One of the sweetest, most wholesome pieces of entertainment of the year:

Seth Parker in
"Way Back Home"

In the Theater

Continuing with its winter schedule of only three nights a week, the Hedgerow Theatre at Rose Valley has chosen three plays of distinction, each one of which ranks high in the scale of entertainment value. These three comedies have been written by authors who have proved themselves skillful and powerful in their writing for the modern theatre and they are all plays which have stood the test of the discriminating taste which marks the Hedgerow audiences.

On next Thursday night Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple" will be performed, with William Price, Rose Henley, Catherine Rieser and Ferd Nofer in important roles.

"The Mask and the Face," an Italian farce-comedy by Chiarelli, absent from the repertory for several months, returns to the current program for next Friday night. The role of Count Grazia, the injured husband, will be played by Jasper Deeter; Countess Savina Grazia, by Miriam Phillips, and the supporting parts are in the hands of Dudley Vaughan, Helen Craig, Frances Torchiana, Jesse Oser, Alfred Rowe, Carl Reukauff and Joseph Leberman.

Next Saturday night's show is St. John Ervine's gay characterization of a temperamental actress, "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," and the sensation she creates in a quiet English household. Dudley Vaughan again will play the leading role, with Jasper Deeter interpreting the Cockney business manager.

Tonight at Hedgerow there is a performance of Shaw's "Arms and the Man" and tomorrow night, the newest play in the repertory, "The White-headed Boy," by Lennox Robinson, the Irish playwright.

A BAD SPRAIN — a week in bed. The doctor's calm statement spelled disaster for Robert Speers. This was his busiest season. Orders were coming in; shipments had to be supervised. He had to keep going!

Painfully they helped him into bed. "Now Bob, do stop worrying," beseeched Mrs. Speers. But it was Bob, Jr., who saved the day.

"Dad," he suggested in the midst of his father's complaints, "you can do your business in bed by telephone. Get an extension put in."

Several weeks later Mr. Speers entered the Telephone Business Office. "We want to keep that bedside telephone," he said. "The whole family's using it, and while I was flat on my back, it brought me the biggest and busiest week on record!"

The whole family enjoys the convenience of ANOTHER TELEPHONE upstairs—it costs less than 3 cents a day!

County Federation to Meet at Royersford Thursday

The Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its mid-winter meeting in the Reformed Church, Royersford, Pa., next Thursday at 10:30 A. M. The members of the Royersford Club will be the hostesses. Mrs. William White, president of the Montgomery County Federation, will preside.

The speakers of the morning session will be Mrs. Abram Bunn Ross, of Cynwyd, chairman of Conservation of the county, formerly president of the Montgomery Federation, and Mrs. Charles Musser, chairman of Club Organization, will talk on Club Extension.

The presidents of the clubs in the Federation will talk on club problems and their solutions.

Mrs. William Doep, of Lansdowne, chairman of music, will lead the singing at the morning and afternoon sessions. The Royersford Chorus will sing a group of songs at the afternoon sessions.

A feature of the program will be the presentation of an old-fashioned fashion show entitled "Moods and Modes of Yester Year," by the members of the Women's Community Club of Narberth.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Judge Harold G. Knight, of Montgomery County, who will speak about the Juvenile Court.

No winter flower show will be held this year.

Bring a box luncheon.

Missionary Study Wednesday

Next Wednesday evening the second of the series of missionary studies under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will be held in the church parlor. Mrs. Paul W. McClintock is conducting the studies and the book used is "Christ Comes to the Village." All the members of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Indian Missionary to Speak at Narberth Church

Martha B. Loud, a missionary under the Ramabai Mukti Mission of India, will speak at the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Narberth Presbyterian Church next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Loud will tell of the work done by the mission for the child-widows, deserted child wives and unwanted baby girls of India.

Those who heard Miss Loud speak at the church several months ago will want to hear her again. She has a vital message for all who are interested in missions and gives it in a way that it touches the hearts of all who hear her.

A cordial invitation is extended to all women who may care to hear Miss Loud and a special invitation is given to the members of the Auxiliary and the Westminster Circle.

Mrs. C. A. McIntire will have charge of the devotion and the Prayer Circle will meet as usual at two o'clock in the Session Room.

Clothes for Needy Office
Opens on City Line, Bala

A headquarters for clothes, under the sponsorship of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania, was opened this Thursday at 207 City Line Avenue, Bala.

This headquarters, which will be open for a six-weeks period, will receive all used and unwanted clothing for the unemployed. Any wearable clothes will be gladly received. Condition does not matter as all articles received will be repaired and cleaned before they are given away. Clothes will be called for if it is not convenient to deliver them. The headquarters will be open from 9 to 5 and till noon on Saturdays.

Mrs. Harold Funk, of Bala, and Mrs. Harold G. Paine, of Merion, are the Main Line chairmen in charge of the clothes headquarters.

MRS. NELLIE BROWN RAMEY

Mrs. Nellie B. Ramey, a former resident of Narberth, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leroy C. Douglass, of Wilmette, Ill., on Thursday morning, January 7. The funeral services were held at the Lafferty Funeral home in Altoona, Pa., at 3 o'clock on Saturday, January 9, and were in charge of the Rev. B. A. Peters, of the Grace Lutheran Church. The interment was at Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Ramey was the widow of the late S. S. Blair Ramey, a former resident of Altoona, and the daughter of the Rev. James Allan Brown, president of the Gettysburg Theological Seminary. She was also the sister of the late Judge Hay Brown, of the State Supreme Court, who resided in Lancaster.

Mrs. Ramey is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Lindley H. Trotter, of Narberth; a sister, Miss Nona Brown, of Lancaster, and a brother, Mr. William A. Brown, also of Lancaster.

He is also secretary of the Montgomery County Bar Association. An ardent tennis and squash player, Mr. McTighe won the singles championship in the closed tournament at the Cynwyd Club in 1930 and this winter has played on Cynwyd's C squash team in the Interclub League.

"The idea of a Young Lawyers' Club was original for so far as is known no club of its kind has ever been organized," said Mr. McTighe when asked about the formation of the group. "Montgomery County is distinguished by the fact that there are few large law firms to absorb and train young lawyers. In the past the largest firm contained only four members and it was only recently that the largest firm increased its staff to five."

"The result was," he continued, "that there was little opportunity for the young lawyer fresh from an academic training in the law school to secure any practical training in a law office. He was obliged to shift for himself and to make his own errors at the cost of his client and at the expense of his own reputation."

"Until recently this problem had not arisen because few young lawyers were admitted and many of them had been trained in an office rather than in a law school. But recently the influx of young lawyers into the county has increased surprisingly. Unlike the office-trained lawyer of the past, who has spent three or four years at the Bar absorbing its traditions and meeting its members, the young lawyers of today come to the Bar from law schools all over the country such as Harvard, Penn, Yale, Columbia, Michigan, etc., each with a different training and different conceptions as to the practice of the law, and all of them without any idea of the rich traditions and splendid ideals of the Montgomery County Bar. It was to remedy this situation that this club was formed."

The club, Mr. McTighe explained, holds its luncheons at the Norristown Club on the first and third Friday of every month and at each meeting a speaker addresses the members upon some subject of interest to them.

During the meetings of the past, he pointed out, Hon. J. Ambler Williams, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, spoke on the preparation of briefs, oral arguments, master's reports, cross examination and jury speeches and Hon. Harold G. Knight, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, discussed the advantages and disadvantages of an office training over that of a law school training, the preparation of petitions and motions, the settlement of cases, courtesy to fellow lawyers and the duties and responsibilities of the young lawyer in the administration of justice. Other speakers have been J. William Ditter, Esq., former Workman's Compensation referee, who spoke on "Workman's Compensation Practice and Procedure;" Hon. J. Burnett Hollard, President Judge of the Orphans' Court, who discussed "Orphans' Court Practice;" Harry F. Hauser, Esq., who explained laws passed by the Legislature during the session of 1931.

During the coming month the Young Lawyers' Club will hear Samuel H. High, Esq., president of the Montgomery Bar Association, who will talk on "Our Bar thirty years ago," and the Hon. George C. Corson, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, who will speak on "The Trail of a Criminal Case." Other eminent speakers have been secured for future meetings who will discuss "Arbitration," "Legal Ethics," "Patents," "Condemnation Cases," "Civil Practice," "Municipal Law" and other subjects of practical use to young lawyers.

Membership in the club, which includes practically the entire group of forty young lawyers of the Montgomery County Bar, is open to any member of the Bar who has been admitted within the past ten years. Provision has been made to keep it a club for young lawyers by automatically terminating the membership of anyone who has been at the Bar for fifteen years.

Narberth Boy to Participate in Oberlin Broadcast

David Strong, 29 Narbrook Park, Narberth, will take part in the annual Oberlin College radio hour over the Columbia network this Saturday. Strong, a junior in Oberlin this year, is a member of the Men's Glee Club.

Five campus organizations, including the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs, the Marching and Concert Bands and the Oberlin-Lakeside Orchestra, will unite in a program of college songs and the more popular classical music Station WHK, Cleveland, is acting as host, and 150 students expect to make the trip from Oberlin to the Cleveland studios to participate.

The broadcast will begin at midnight Saturday, Eastern Standard Time. WABC, New York, and WCAU, Philadelphia, are among the stations listed to carry it.

Supper Next Thursday

A roast beef supper will be served in the parish hall of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church next Thursday from 6 until 7:30 P. M. The tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from Mrs. A. J. Bawden, Wynnewood Road and Woodside Avenue, Narberth 3911, or any member of her committee.

Girl's Assailant Is Believed Boro Man

left the train she noticed a young man, who apparently had alighted from another car, watching her. He followed her up Haverford Avenue and passed her when they reached Anthwyn Farms. He turned into Iona Avenue for a short distance, and then wheeled about, running after the girl.

According to a man living near the scene of the attack, he heard a girl's hurried footsteps, but no sound of a pursuer. Going to the window he saw two forms in the darkness, and then heard the girl scream twice. Opening the window he shouted to the man, who started off. As he passed beneath a street light, a description was obtained.

He appeared to be a youth of about 20, tall and well built, and with an athletic stride. He was dressed in light gray gloves, light gray soft hat and a light, tan-colored overcoat.

The man apparently ran along the grass strip beside the pavement in pursuing his intended victim, throwing one arm about her body and attempting to hold the other over her mouth.

Residents of the district, alarmed by the incident, have spread the description broadcast in the hope that the assailant might be recognized as a Narberth resident.

act plays be given in order to provide opportunity for more of the members to be given parts.

Early in May a famous stage play, "Craig's Wife," will be given, and at this performance an added attraction will be the music of a 35-piece orchestra—R. B. Partier's famous group, who will add much to the enjoyment of the evening by selections played between the acts.

The members of the club are enthusiastic about the progress being made by their so-young organization.

The next regular club meeting will be held February 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Loughlin, 210 Chestnut Avenue.

The employees of the Main Line district of the Bell Telephone Company held a sales meeting at Green Hill Farms Hotel on Tuesday evening. Sales plans for the coming year were discussed.

By ROBERT J. EDGAR
Lengthening days!

Our birds are not particularly fussy but they do prefer beef kidney suet to other kinds; they tell us that it is most flaky and more easily digested.

Santa Claus is a funny fellow. He sent us things to smoke when we wanted garden cyclopedias and fern books. But we got the books; other good fairies were working in January.

On one of those nice warm January days we journeyed up the mountain where the ground is green with Christ-mas ferns and laurel. We knew where the polypods were, and the ebony splenworts, but on some mossy rocks near a mountain spring we found the rare walking leaf fern. No need to sit by the fire waiting for spring while the woodlands may be enjoyed in winter.

And speaking of mild winters, the early fragrant bush-honeysuckle, Lonicera fragrantissima, was in flower just ten days ago; just about three months ahead of time. Anything may be expected this winter—or rather this spring.

The bush-honeysuckle has a most interesting cousin called the twin flower, found in moist woods. This little trailing woodland plant has been called the "monument of the man of flowers" as it was named for Linnaeus, the father of our modern systematic botany, Linnæa borealis. The twin flower is a bit unusual as it bears one seed in a pod, two flowers on a stem, three cells to the seed pod, four stamens to the flower and five lobes to the flower. The plant is evergreen and the blooms are fragrant. Some day we shall have this in a bowl.

The near future of Gardening in America seems to be assured, thanks to garden clubs and other agencies. Much stress is laid on conservation and justly so if our country is to be restored to the glory that it was. Creative work must go with conservation and the place to start such work is with the coming generation. Children of today are the gardeners of the coming years; early lessons and early impressions are lasting; a real love of green growing things and a sincere respect for them can be implanted in the minds and hearts of boys and girls to carry on with them in later life. It must not be a make-believe game, like dolls and toy engines; nature is very real and such a part of our lives that the lessons may be taught as facts. Trees, plants, flowers and birds are things that add beauty to our lives as well as providing many of the necessities. What lessons may be learned from nature! One way to help to teach the young is to know nature better ourselves.

More delphiniums this year? Good!

Moral laurel this year? Fine!

At least one more tree this year? Great!

They are teaching the judging of flower shows. Fine work! If the judges know the flowers it should not be hard. Now, if someone would start to teach how to make perfect schedules for flower shows and how to exhibit the flowers the newly graduated judges' work will be easy.

Lower Merion, Downed in Last Two Starts, Faces Norristown Tonight

Catholic High Drops Lower Merion, 18 to 14

Superiority From Foul Line Gives City Team Margin of Victory

DEFENSE WAS STRONG

Bill Anderson and company dropped their second game of the youthful basketball season Tuesday night at the Junior High gymnasium as Catholic High walked off with an 18-14 decision.

Both teams played good basketball, but the visitors were a bit keener at the fifteen-foot line. Eight out of thirteen foul shots brought victory to Billy Markward, ancient and honorable teacher of the cage game, as all the Maroon could do was four out of nine. Field goals were evenly divided, each team getting five.

The Catholic High five exhibited the finest basketball of any team that has met Lower Merion all season. They played smoothly, keeping the floor open for a man to cut all the time. Possession of the ball was nursed like an ailing child, not once did they take a chance of losing it by a guarded shot or a wild stab. Always on the move, feinting, pivoting, passing here and there, the visitors kept the local lads puffing on the defense almost throughout the game.

Lower Merion also played good ball. Poor offensively, they were very good on the defense, and with a little more luck would have pulled victory out of the bag. Raymond Stanley, sophomore forward, led his mates in scoring with two field goals and a foul. A couple of his long loops fell off the front rim and either of them might have meant victory. Sonny Grace, sore feet and all, played good ball, but was not his usual self. His field goal and two fouls helped the cause. Captain Roy Williams contributed a thriller from the floor at the close of the third quarter. His shot from beyond the center circle arched through the basket as the whistle blew. He also scored in the final period on a short cut to the basket.

Kline, Gulkas and Harron played well for Catholic.

Fire Loss in Borough In 1931 Was $4575

Annual Reports Summarize Work of Various Departments During Year.

43 ARRESTS WERE MADE

Annual reports of the various committees of Council, presented at the January meeting on Monday night, summarized the work of the various departments of the borough during 1931.

The report of the Public Safety Committee on the operation of the Fire Department showed that a total of 88 alarms had been answered during the course of the year. Property to the value of $1,011,000 was endangered by fire but the actual loss was but $4575. Forty-six of the year's alarms were for grass, rubbish and bonfires. Burning automobiles in the street caused eight alarms with damage of $1075, while automobiles on fire in garages were responsible for five alarms with resulting damage of $460. There were eighteen alarms for fires in dwellings, including apartments, with damage totaling $3500. Fires in stores, garages and miscellaneous buildings accounted for four alarms with damage of $315. Unusual smoke caused one alarm and twice during the year false alarms brought out the firemen.

The police report for the year showed that a total of 43 arrests had been made in the borough, with nine fines imposed for a total of $65. Twenty-two summonses were issued during the year, all but one of them being for violation of "Stop" signs. Four fines, of $5 each, were imposed for these violations. Seven houses were reported entered, and eleven automobile accidents. Warning tags for the violation of parking regulations were given to 405 drivers.

The report of the Building Committee indicated that a total of 63 building permits had been granted during the year, divided as follows: Garages, 10; new roofs, 20; alterations, 25; sheds, 3; shops, 1; additions, 3, and new houses, 1. A total of 242 inspections were made by the Building Inspector, George B. Suplee, during the year.

Norristown Five Faces

Lower Merion Tonight

Norristown comes to the Junior High floor this Friday night to engage Bill Anderson's high school team in an important league struggle. While Norristown has strength fairly distributed in her lineup, it is felt that Lower Merion had too strong a defensive club to permit the boys from the county capital to walk off with a victory.

Anderson's boys have won the last four starts against the Lewis coached five, and with the Norristown Junior High teams falling down on the job in reference to outside games, the likelihood of strong teams under Lewis are still in the distant future.

Norristown is always a dangerous enemy when lined up against the Maroon. They fight their hardest and with the local team lacking a strong offensive threat may cause trouble. However, Norristown has no Richards this season.

Narberth Library Circulated 54,589 Books During 1931

assistance in their reference work.

"When school closed for the summer vacation, the children again joined the Library Travel Club. The books read were descriptive of child life in other lands, teaching among other things the lesson of world friendship. From thirteen to twenty books were read, according to grade. Forty-two children read twelve books. Twenty-nine finished the trip. The Parents' Teachers' Association awarded prizes to those who did the best work, and the Library gave a certificate to all who completed the requirements.

"Children's Book Week in November was observed by engaging in activities that had as their main incentive the reading and enjoyment of books by children. During the week 125 new books were displayed for the benefit of children and those interested in children's reading. The books with their lovely illustrations were read and admired, and at closing time on the first day they were permitted to be taken out not a new book was left on the shelves.

"A Story Hour was held every week until July, when it was discontinued until October. The attendance ranged from twenty-five to fifty. This work is a joy. The interest of the children is so keen as they call for their favorite stories and beg for one more when the hour is over.

"In September, the Library had on exhibit for a week specimens of handicraft brought from Mexico and Yucatan by Miss Ellen Brinton. The articles exhibited included samples of hand-woven fabrics, embroidery, baskets, children's toys and native wearing apparel. A great deal of interest was taken in this exhibit, especially by the children and young people, who felt better acquainted with the Mexicans after examining these articles and hearing something of the customs of the country.

"In June there was a change on the Library staff when Miss Clara Follette, who had been the efficient assistant librarian for more than two years, resigned to attend Library School. Miss Frances Christ, who had been acting as a volunteer assistant, was appointed to succeed Miss Follette. In the months that have followed her appointment Miss Christ has well proved her ability and her fitness for the duties of her position.

"This report can only give an idea of the work during the year. At a time when every community is struggling with its own local aspects of a business depression, people are turning more and more to books. Fortunately the belief that libraries are a luxury has given way to the understanding that in times like these they are a vital necessity in aiding in the mental relief of unemployment (quoting from the Wilson Bulletin for December). This may be the time for a searching test of libraries. Special heed to special service, however, seems the immediate and urgent duty. All libraries will be particularly aware of the problem outside their own walls."

Music School's Semester Will Start February 8

The Main Line School of Music, 107 Ardmore Avenue, Ardmore, announces that the second semester will begin February 8.

The school has added Paul Donath to its faculty as a teacher of the accordion. This instrument is gaining in popularity more and more, and in New York especially, where young and old are taking it up.

The report of the Highway and Sewer Committee showed that a total of $15,162 had been spent during the year for labor and $10,953.45 for materials. Ash collection cost the borough $7640.56 for labor and street cleaning $3410.50 for the same item. On the resurfacing of Haverford Avenue, $1125.36 was spent for labor and $4290.48 for materials. On Windsor Avenue, $292.76 was spent for labor and $3502.95 for materials. Thirty-five permits were granted for the opening of highways, for which fees totaling $477 were collected.

"Time Out"

By TOMMY MACKLIN

This seems to be a dull year in suburban basketball circles. Norristown used to be the Big Bertha on the wooden way, but in recent years has fallen sick and exhausted by the wayside. Then came Upper Darby with her big boys who could do their basketball chores in a big way. With the coming of Bill Anderson to the suburbs and the introduction of a collegiate style of defensive play, Lower Merion has ruled the roost in much the same manner as the game cock.

Yes, this seems to be a dull year. The Maroon has no threat to make her team a constant chill to frightened opponents. Lower Merion will be near the top of the heap, but not by decisive victories as in the past two years. Haverford High has a fast, rugged, capable team this year, but we doubt if the Red and Gold is in the class of the Maroon ensembles of the past two years. In fact, we are sure they could not even hold them to a close score.

Radnor's team is better this season, but their style of basketball is the charging, rushing kind, devoid of any finesse or outstanding skill. They will win many games on their own boxlike floor, but should not cause much worry to opponents on large playing floors.

Teams which have for years enjoyed strong fives face a season with no real outstanding squads, with the exception of Haverford. In the past few years suburban teams could out-class high school fives in the city, but this year it looks as if any of five or six city teams could take the measure of the best we have.

That, in itself, is a small matter, as long as the boys enjoy themselves and learn the rudiments of the game. After all, a few losses now and then is cherished greatly by the other fellow who profits thereby.

Catholic High School brought a well-coached team to Ardmore Tuesday night. Billy Markward, who has coached Catholic for almost a third of a century, hasn't forgot any of the fine points of the game. His boys always go far in college circles because they are properly trained in high school.

The Haverford High victory over Lower Merion last Friday evening was expected, but with a little better handling of the ball by one or two of the Lower Merion boys in the final moments of play would have brought victory again to the Maroon colors. If the Red and Gold had not won that game, the chances are slim that they would have won against the locals for a long time. For Lower Merion is sure to come back with a strong team next season.

Norristown lost to Upper Darby by an overwhelming score Tuesday. Abington lost to Haverford and Cheltenham took Chester for a ride. This Cheltenham is dangerous with her tall, dusky centre. The lad on the pivot spot is about six and a half feet tall, and rings up four or five baskets regularly during the course of a game.

Lower Merion Junior High lost a close decision to Lancaster's West Junior High last Friday night in the Dutch country. With five seconds to go the enemy shot a long field goal to make victory certain. Failure to shoot fouls cost the locals the game. The team came back with a vengeance Tuesday afternoon, downing a league rival, Clifton Heights Juniors, 61 to 5.

The Leopards entertain Collingswood, N. J., at home this afternoon, and Pottstown Juniors next Tuesday afternoon. Collingswood takes Radnor's place on the schedule. Radnor only won three out of sixteen games played by the two schools over a period of eight years.

Great games in the Main Line league now. Narberth plays Ardmore for the league lead Monday night. All Lower Merion boys, too. Wayne I. A. C. has Al Tate and Harvey Shillingford, two former L. M. boys, on the team from that end of the Main Line. We predict Haverford Aces will yet win the first half of the race.

To Swim in City

The gym and swimming class of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth have been invited to swim at the Y. M. C. A. in Philadelphia on Friday morning at ten o'clock. The class will meet at the home of Mrs. George Norman Gill, 216 Dudley Avenue, at 9:45 sharp and leave immediately for the city. The plans for a swimming class will be made at this time. A cordial invitation is extended to all the women of Narberth who are interested to attend.

Three Teams Tied As Last Match Comes Up

Camels, Pilots, and Battlers Are Deadlocked in Bowling League.

With only one more match to roll, the Camels, Pilots and Battlers are deadlocked for first place in the Narberth Interchurch Bowling League.

The Camels shut out the Boosters easily in the last matches but the Battlers were given a scare in their first game with the Colts, winning by eleven pins. They then proceeded to take the next two, giving them three in a row.

The Pilots won their first two games from the Lions by a good margin, but the last game was close, Captain Haws striking out for the Pilots and winning the game by eight pins.

The three leaders won all their games and this Friday evening they will have another battle for the championship of the half. The Camels meet the Lions, Pilots the Boosters and the Battlers the Meteors.

The standing and last scores are as follows:

Narberth Health Center Leads in General Activity

As the annual reports come in of the other four Child Health Centers connected with the Community Health and Civic Association at Ardmore, the Narberth Center leads for general activity.

Of four centers showing a total increase in attendance of 828, Narberth's increase was 325 of that number. Of 123 cases referred to physicians, dentists and other agencies, Narberth referred 102. Of 305 doses of toxin-antitoxin administered Narberth received 143.

The total attendance of children at the Narberth Center was 1050. There were 55 conferences or meeting days on which 1007 examinations were made by the attending physician. There has been an average of 20 children a week, with one doctor and one nurse in attendance, assisted by volunteers from the Woman's Community Club.

This work all takes place in the small first floor room at Elm Hall, every Wednesday afternoon throughout the year. This year promises even further assistance to the preschool child to make him physically fit.

Volunteer service was given during the past year by the following women: Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, 41 times; Mrs. William Knauer, 41 times; Mrs. J. W. Darville, 30 times; Mrs. E. C. Drew, 28 times; Mrs. J. A. Aiken, 17 times; Mrs. H. E. Ruch, 17 times; Mrs. C. Starr, 15 times; Mrs. W. Odiorne, 13 times; Mrs. L. Melcher, 8 times; Mrs. W. C. Newman, 2 times; Mrs. N. C. Rowley, Mrs. H. C. Bauk, Miss Mary Hudson and Miss Aiken, once each.

Plans for Washington Bi-Centennial Discussed

The Narberth committee for the celebration of the George Washington Bicentennial met on Monday evening to discuss tentative plans for the year's activities in the borough.

The committee, with J. J. Cabrey as chairman, consists of W. James Drennan, principal of the Narberth School; Mrs. Robert F. Wood, Mrs. John C. Nash and Arthur L. Cooke.

Mr. Drennan reported that plans in the school were well under way for the recognition of George Washington's anniversary. Special auditorium programs have been laid out for each week of the year and topics for each arranged so that all programs will be woven around the subject of Washington.

Trees will be planted by the school on the Spring Arbor Day.

Through the efforts of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter, D. A. R., motion pictures entitled "The Life of George Washington," arranged and presented by the Philadelphia Electric Company, will be shown at the school on February 26th at 1 o'clock.

The committee is very anxious to have the town well decorated with flags and bunting on February 22d and hope to receive the co-operation of the home owners as well as the merchants and business people in the project.

On the evening of Washington's two hundredth birthday anniversary, February 22d, it was thought most appropriate that the townspeople should gather together and celebrate the anniversary of the Father of our Country. There will probably be a dinner in commemoration of this event. However, further plans will be announced in next week's paper.
